Mr O'Brien, of Minnesota, said that as there was a contest in the Dakota delegation, the only contest before the convention, he would move that the Dakota delegates be excluded from any participation in the convention's pro-ceedings until the report of the credentials committee is made and voted upon. This proposition was adopted without opposition. Roswell P. Flower, of New York, rose to offer a resolution to the effect that when the convention takes a recess to-day it be to meet at moon to-morrow. Ex-Governor Abbett of New Jersey offered an mendment, fixing the hour at ten o'clock. He wanted, he said, to see the Democratic ticket ominated to-morrow, and not on the third The amendment was accepted by Mr. Flower, and the resolution, as amended, agreed to. The convention then, on motion of Mr. Flow-

Referred to the committee on resolutions. J. C. Webb, of Alabama, submitted the report of the committee on credentials, which was unanimously adopted. The report of the committee on permanent organization was called for and submitted by Mr. Lewis Cassidy, of Philadelphia. It recom mended that the convention should adopt the regulations and order of business that prevailed in the Chicage Convention of 1884, with the nodification that no delegation shall be per mitted to change its vote until after the call of States has been completed. For permanent officers the following were reported: Chairman, Hon. P. A. Collins, of Massachusetts; secr tary, H. H. Ingersoil, of Tennessee; assistants, Alfred Orendorff, Illinois; T. E. Barrett, Maine; W. W. Scott, Virginis; O. M. Hall, Minnesota; Leopold Strauss, Alabama; L. G. Rowley Michigan; John Triplett, Georgia; T. J. Lingle Nebraska; chief reading secretary, Thos Pettit; sergeant-at-arms, R. J. Bright; chief door-keeper, Daniel Able, St. Louis.

There was no opposition to the adoption of the report, and the temporary chairman selected Hon. W. H. Barnum, of Connecticut, Ros-well B. . . . . . . . If this record seems prosaic, if it lacks the blood-thrilling elements, if it is not lit with lurid fires, if it can not be illustrated by a pyroechnic display, if it is merely the plain record of a constitutional party in a time of peace, emgaged in administrative reforms, it is because the people of the country four years ago elected not to trust to sensution and experiment, however brilliant and alluring, but preferred to place the helm in steady hands, with a fear-less, trustworthy, patriotic man behind it. Upon that record and upon our honest efforts, as yet incomplete, to reduce and equalize the burdens of taxa-tion, we enter the canvass and go to the poils confident that the free and inte people of this great country will say: "Well done, good and faithful servant." To the patriotic, independent citizens who, four years ago, forsook their old allegiance and came to our support, and who since that time have nobly sustained the administration, the Democratic party owes a deep debt of gratitude. That they have been reviled and insulted by their former associates is not only a signal compliment to their character and influence, but another evidence of the decadence of the Republican party. Blind worship of the machine-a political Juggernaut-is exacted from every man who will take even standing-room in that party. The Democratic temple is open to all, and if in council we can not agree in all things, our motto is: "In essentials unity, in non-essentials, in all things charity." To all good men we say: "Come in." "Goodwill ne'er halted at the door-stone." Upright as a palmetto tree, with arm outstretched, the words falling sharply-defined and musical, and reaching the furthest corners of the hall, it was an occasion when the orator and his speech achieved a measure of success that was perfect and ideal. The climax was reached when, with his arms raised above his head, and hands clenched, the orator encluded: "I nominate Grover Cleveland, of New York." It was not until 12:25 p. m., when the npplause had lasted just twenty-four minutes, that the tumult came to an end. Quiet reigned only for a moment, however, when the apeaker concluded by moving that the rules be auspended and Grover Cloveland be nominated by acciamation.

A number of speeches seconding the namination were made, and when the call was concinded a motion to suspend the rules was put and carried, and the chairman declared that

Grover Cleveland, having received more than two-thirds of the votes cast, was the regular nominee of the Democratic party for President of the United States. Reswell P. Flower, of New York, sent up to the clerk's Gosk a resolution that when the o'clock to-morrow: This called forth a number of speeches and amendatory motions, but the question was finally determined by a pointed speech by Lieutenant-Gevernor White of California The roll-call was proceeded with, but Governer White's little speech had induced the delegates to make a complete change of base, and before the call had gone far it was sus pended, and the adjournment until 10 a, m. tonorrow was agreed to. At 1:58 p. m. the gavel fell, and the day's proceedings were over.
